ABOUT KIRKLAND TIBBELS

Kirkland Tibbels is Co-Founder and Chairman of Influential U® and originator of Transactional Intelligence® (TQ) — the methodology introduced in HIGH TQ: Why It Matters More Than Expertise. His academic formation — a Master’s in Philosophy, Cosmology, and Consciousness, and a doctoral dissertation in progress at the California Institute of Integral Studies — gave the work its philosophical architecture: the Transaction Cycle™, the eight exchanges, the four personality types in transaction, and the Infinity Loops™.

A Distinguished Toastmaster — Toastmasters International’s highest designation — and trained at Chicago’s Second City, Tibbels brings philosophical depth and unexpected platform fluency to the questions most leadership frameworks never ask: what is actually happening in the exchange beneath the conversation, and how do you learn to see it?

ENDORSEMENTS

“Transactional Intelligence® names a third intelligence — the ability to conduct human exchanges that produce ethical outcomes. Practical, teachable, and long overdue.”

Dr. Marshall Goldsmith · Thinkers50 #1 Executive Coach · NYT Bestselling Author, What Got You Here Won’t Get You There

“Once you can see the structure underneath your exchanges, everything about how you lead changes. This book is the missing piece I didn’t know I was looking for.”

Chester Elton · NYT Bestselling Author, The Carrot Principle · Author, Leading with Gratitude

“High TQ names that hidden layer between engagement and actualization, giving readers the framework to finally see what’s been invisible. A must read for anyone serious about leading with both authenticity and effect.”

Sanyin Siang · CEO Advisor · Duke University Professor · Thinkers50 Honoree

“It is the missing link in how we understand leadership, success, and power — recognizing how the structure of our exchanges shapes our ability to influence events and create positive outcomes. Once we see that, we can act with precision and power.”

Sally Helgesen · Author, How Women Rise and Rising Together · Thinkers50 Hall of Fame

01 The Intelligence AI Can’t Replicate

Why the Exchange Layer Becomes Exponentially More Valuable as AI Handles Everything Else

As AI takes over the cognitive layer, the exchange layer — where every commitment, agreement, and outcome is actually produced — becomes the defining human competency. This session names it, makes it visible, and gives leaders the tools to navigate it deliberately.

02 We’ve Been Calling It the Wrong Thing

The Category Error Behind Your Most Damaging Leadership Diagnosis

Every organization has condemned “transactional” behavior without realizing they’ve pathologized the category instead of the execution. This session corrects the diagnosis — and shows what skilled transacting actually looks like.

03 You’re Not Stuck. You’re Looping.

Why the Same Conversations Keep Producing the Same Outcomes

Every personality type has a predictable departure point that loops back to the same breakdown. Leaders who can see the loop they’re in — and the loop their team is running — can interrupt it before it costs them their best people.
